About this survey. 216 responses collected August 15, 2026 – August 18, 2026 through an open online survey promoted by Livable Telluride — 209 in English, 7 in Spanish. Respondents were self-selected rather than randomly sampled, so these results describe the views of engaged residents and are not a representative sample of Telluride. Percentages are of those answering each question. The question about concerns allowed more than one choice, so its percentages total more than 100%. Figures cited by respondents about costs, offers and project dimensions are their own and are not verified here.

Too massive, too dense, too expensive, can't be built affordably (judging by other Town-built housing projects gone wrong). Not convinced we need so much housing. Build in stages, fill those units, then reassess. Seriously look at the valley's carrying capacity and don't wreck us by overbuilding. Keep Telluride Telluride by listening to what THE PEOPLE want

I would like to understand what is being rented versus sold to residents. The current town rental situation is quite underwhelming, and I do not want to see the town become a rental agency, changing its policies and not being able to keep people housed as they try to change policies on renters midstream.

Put (public/ski) parking outside town and bus people in. The shandoka and carhenge projects are both very poor solutions to very real problems. The size and mass of these projects is way too large to fit with the historic feel of the town. All of this will make Telluride feel like Vail, which is soul crushing.

I absolutely do not agree with the concept that it is still economical viable to build local housing in town and bring that to market at a reasonable rental rate or sales price that makes any sense. We should be using these prime locations in town at their highest and best use (free market) and using the profits to subsidize truly "affordable" housing within a 10 mile radius of town. We can house more people at a much more affordable price.

Most locals who aren't in real estate and will benefit financially from new building projects are frustrated and angry at town council for rubber stamping new building projects while ignoring the feedback against them provided by locals
2026-08-18T13:30:53.243Z	en	Heard about it but did not know details	No	Yes, significantly	Strongly oppose	✓				✓			✓				Do not proceed	Very poor	The intrusive scale of this project clearly demonstrates that the Town Coucil seeks to aggressively steal Telluride's quaint small-town atmosphere and morph it into a claustrophobic, dense city. In retrospect, it seems that developing the valley floor would have been preferable to squeezing this structure Tetris-like into that tight corner of the town. I think a much better idea would be to build a string of multi-family units along the base of the hill down the length of the valley floor. Low-slung housing would blend into the terrain without obstructing neighbors, spreading the population out into a nice, comfortable, and airy corridor rather than compressing it. A housing corridor like this could have its own access from a road just south of Society Turn which would avoid squeezing even more cars into Town via the Spur.

It feels like some of the town members are working for the financial gain of those who stand to profit from these types of projects-and possibly for their own financial and political gain. The town council is not learning from prior projects. It is not considering the debt they may be placing on the town. It is not providing the costs of the rental units to determine whether the units will truly be affordable for the local workers. The town council has yet to conduct appropriate traffic, capacity and environmental studies to determine the effect of such a large structure that violates so many architectural restrictions. Those restrictions are in place to protect the characteristics of the town and quality of life for its residents. Yet the town council continues to disregard them at the expense of the residents who will eventually have to face paying for the debt incurred to build this project.

It will cause noise and impact the quality of life for those of us who already live here. What little views of the mountains we have now will be blocked for most residents. There will be years of construction to deal with as well as inconvenience for residents. Put it this way, if this space was available on the east end or north side of town, think wealthy home owners, not where the workers reside, this whole project would be moot to begin with. The majority of us living in Shandoka and other units just had significant rent increases, yet no improvements being made on the existing structures we already have, for example providing a green space, a common area, a picnic area, a decent playground, new water heaters, walk ways being cleaned up, bike barns that are not an utter disaster, replacing burned out light bulbs which are about 50% in the Shandoka providing window fans for units with no cross

I, for one, hope the Town will build for the community that has been forced to move away because they cannot find secure housing, reducing the number of true residents in the Town in the last 20 years. It's a shame the folks that have lived here for "who cares how many" years have made it impossible for new staff, outdoor enthusiasts, seasonal workers, back of house team members, families, and young people to move here because they were anti-development but not anti-real estate. I especially want Town Council to know how much I am personally looking forward to seeing folks with astronomical commercial rents put in more t-shirt shops while true locals will be able to own and operate commercial businesses at affordable prices at the new Shandoka and Carhenge locations and, heck, maybe even live within walking distance of where they work.

We are talking about a box canyon that can only sustain so much growth. Additional parking and affordable housing belongs out of town. It's clear that building in Telluride is not affordable, as the "affordable" local housing units are sitting empty. Let's figure out why before starting another massive project. Seems like just redoing West Pacific street and adding that massive sidewalk was, and still is, an unnecessary disaster; just quit there!

Where will everyone in both places park during these constructions? Will parking continue to be free for locals? This isn't even mentioning how long this project would take, it is substantially bigger than the new ah ha building and that took nearly 3 years to build. 5 years is a lot of time, and I'm willing to bet it would take longer since you're building right on the river, which is a sensitive area for sure. It's also looking to be a massive eyesore that makes everyone in shandoka's lives worse. Think about the traffic as well. We all know that the section of Colorado Ave. in town before the roundabout is one of the worst places for traffic in town. Do you think adding a 900 spot parking structure down the only real other road off the roundabout would be wise? The shandoka area is already one of the least sunny places in town, and putting a massive brick there would cut them off almost completely. Consider the snowplowing as well. God knows that the other areas in town near the river build up ice quickly and never get cleared, I'm willing to bet cutting off all sun access here would create a massive ice patch that wouldn't go away till May. A project like this would be very disruptive to the Shandoka community and take away the sunlight for everyone living in it. The location is wrong and would be better off being built somewhere else if needed. It could also cause more traffic problems at the entrance of the town which wouldn't be great. The space is fine as it is and should stay that way for the people that live there.

Housing workers in Telluride will strengthen the community and provide some demographic diversity among its residents. Intercept parking at the west end of Telluride will make the rest of the town more pedestrian friendly.

It will bring a massive amount of traffic into the Shandoka area and as an area full of children I worry for their safety. All existing views by residents will be eliminated and will be replaced by long walls, and a huge parking structure that will probably never be utilized as it's intended. All views of the mountains from the river trail will also be eliminated. It will be unfortunate to replace what is now such a peaceful and quiet area with the noise of constant movement, honking, and tightly packed neighbors. I am not opposed with utilizing this area in a more efficient way but to this scale? Every square foot maximized? Let this project breathe a little, leave room for air to flow, birds to chirp and river sounds to flow. And how in the hell are we going to pay for this, and what will it cost?

Answer A: 2026-08-18T06:11:19.950Z

1) This project on Shandoka/Lot L would degrade the quality of all neighboring property-existing Shandoka units, short- and long-term rentals for tourists and locals, and residences alike. Approving a project of this scale and impact highlights a disregard for quality of life & property values in this neighborhood, whereas conforming to our existing design regulations would not have such an outsized negative impact.

2) Fiscal responsibility by Council and Staff is critical to our town's wellbeing. Admittedly, so are housing, parking, and commercial vibrancy.

Is there a greater moral obligation to provide housing or to exercise fiscal responsibility?

3) There is no guarantee that town managed housing is going to be affordable to people who most want housing. It's also difficult to qualify for town workforce housing, with many people unable to do so.

Additionally, the assumption that more local housing will keep people off the roads is flawed. In theory, it should help. But this project seems designed to increase overall population more than to get regional commuters off the roads.

Often unsaid, is the enduring fact that some folks just want more space, more land, more quiet, more sky, etc. than what is available as workforce housing inside the confines of town.

4) As TOT becomes increasingly popular, built-out, and crowded, the pressure on space of all sorts is ever-present. We have precious and limited space. But granting extensive allowances to this project on all fronts doesn't make more space-it will just make town feel more crowded, and esp in the west end, less like a place people do want to live.

5) It's unrealistic to state the exact housing needs of our community, esp in the future. Even with surveys, waiting lists, and other data, the profile of our community and its needs is dynamic. To operate as if today's development plan is the singular best vision of our future, (on the largest undivided development parcels the town has really ever seen, to boot), seems short-sighted and presumptuous, rather than far-sighted and adaptable.

6) To the extent this project aims to address some of the considerable congestion we have around parking and traffic, I would like to see other solutions tested first. A more immediate and impactful way to improve traffic congestion on our roads would be to provide more convenient and frequent bus service where the existing residential density is-on the Spur, throughout Lawson, and in MV. That is not simple to develop, but frequent enough bus service is surely more feasible and way cheaper than the undertaking of such an enormous buildout of Shandoka. Prioritizing better transportation on the busiest roads near Town could be a faster method to reducing congestion, while mitigating parking problems.

If, in that process, our roads became safer and parking became less crowded, it would be a win-win!

But if such a solution proved ineffective, it would be easier to rearrange even a complex transportation schedule than to rearrange gigantic buildings that will forever loom over the gateway to town.

7) With additional rental and owner-occupied units coming online soon, perhaps the greater short-term need in the already-dense neighborhood of Shandoka & Backman Village is for some commercial establishments. That component has been in every iteration of these plans for years. Housing always eclipses everything else, but how about trying to give the people who are already established in the neighborhood the benefit of some commercial activity? Per capita, there is way less of that west of Davis St, yet west of Davis is where the greatest residential density exists in town. Some deed-restricted commercial, with extra parking above and beyond the LUC requirements, might be an enhancement to both our local economy and neighborhood, without causing such profound displacement and disruption during construction, or requiring such outsized and unprecedented variances.

Please rethink this proposal!

Answer B: 2026-08-17T22:42:26.030Z

Telluride is special. The land we have is minuscule, finite, and precious. This seems to be an endeavour to build the largest single structure in the entirety of town. Please proceed with acknowledgement of this, and care for the process. Consider this a first step, not a check box requirement before proceeding as is. Please take in all feedback.

Please build something, that may take more time, more money, and ensure you 'do it right'. You only get one chance to build the biggest thing in town. Please put as much of the parking below ground. On the south side, away from the water table yes. Spend the money to do that right. Also, parking needs will only grow (until AI dominates and changes the world as we know it in only 5 short years?? Consider that too!).

Do we need more housing? Maybe? Address empty units first. Do we need more commercial / neighborhood commercial in the SW district of town, yes. Coffee shop, day care, restaurant, bar, all of that would be welcome, as neighborhood versions. Covered parking in a garage is also welcome by many I speak with. But please ensure the contractors have somewhere to park. Big rigs, with ladders atop.

More is less, telluride, more is less. We are a town that embodies that. Don't build a suburban Denver shopping mall parking structure, and push it through by way of 'affordable housing' glue-ons.

Telluride to a degree needs to accept that it's a destination tourist town. As such, there is nothing wrong with down valley parking lots/garages, and shuttles into town. We are truly a walking town. So what does it matter if visitors park at Shandoka for the week/weekend and walk around town their entire visit, or park at Lawson, or the Shell, and shuttle into town?

We should move to a more careless town, whilst in town. Please preserve the views, please preserve the scale, or lack thereof in town. Please take this slow and consider what the future may even look like post AI dominance I'm serious here. The world as we know it only has a few years left before revolutionary change. So why invest so heavily in the way things are, if things won't remain as we know them for much longer? Do big things slow, and small things fast.

Answer C: 2026-08-17T16:26:41.664Z

The majority of employees for Telluride and Mtn Village live in the THA facilities. Taking away the breath-taking view to locate this structure and additional traffic is a punishment, not an enhancement to our town. Being able to enjoy the canyon view for the few hours of sunlight before or after long work hours is the benefit to living in that specific area. Has anyone done a count of how many apartments are available in each THA structure...Boarding House, Sunnyside, Shandoka, VA Placer, Voodoo...also the new structure VA Placer 2 being built by the bus station? A count of vacant apartments should be done every month to show availability, not just continue to build and build and build. There are MANY vacancies throughout THA facilities.

Furthermore...A proposed children's facility should not be in the same area of parking at this increased amount of spaces this project proposes. I have personally witnessed our buses and other traffic struggling for safety of children already. Additional traffic in that area, which houses a chugs population of children in Telluride, is extremely concerning...UNNECESSARY ACCIDENTS WAITING TO HAPPEN WITH THIS PROJECT'S TRAFFIC INCREASE IN MIND! Please consider the various MULTIPLE consequences. This location in Telluride is quiet and peaceable! Please do NOT escalate, nor promote, concerns for safety and stealing away the beauty of our town unnecessarily!

The "town" didn't provide information until it was well down the road with this project. It took the people of the town, rallying together to get the whole story and question the legality of the project based on Telluride's Master Plan. Private economic interests should not take precedence over the community's finite infrastructure capacity and public costs. Telluride should not approve projects on the assumption that the public will eventually have to find a way to accommodate the resulting traffic. Private economic benefit cannot be separated from public infrastructure cost. The Master Plan calls for transportation, parking, and public transit facilities to be coordinated with growth projections. It also calls for measures to reduce traffic and emphasizes maintaining Telluride as a community where visitors do not need automobiles. Why are we encouraging more cars with 900 parking spaces if we are a town emphasizing less automobiles? Furthermore, additional traffic congestion is a safety issue. Congestion affects emergency vehicles, pedestrians, cyclists, residents, workers, visitors, delivery vehicles, public transportation, and access throughout the community. How about we focus on affordable housing, a fundamental necessity in Telluride with no additional parking?

On a personal note, our family shows up in Telluride with zero cars more often than not, instead relying on group rides from Montrose. Currently it's still a walkable town with a free bus loop. Let's keep it that way.

Answer E: 2026-08-17T09:09:05.735Z

I came to Telluride with my love and hope for its quaint and cozy appearance, the incredible -like nowhere else- views. As I walk to work 5-6 morns, my thoughts are wonderfully overwhelmed with the extravagance of our canyons...our waterfalls flowing down from the heavens, our gorgeous snow-caps, the eagles and falcons soaring, the breath-taking skyline...Telluride's fantastic celebration of nature. These aspects, and so many more, help me to recognize the incredible blessing I feel to have found this widely adored gem. I am saddened and sickened to think that all this beauty may disappear, and soon Telluride would become more like Vail or Aspen...covered in concrete and side-by-side buildings, no longer breathing in it's freshness, but instead unpleasantries for the sake of unnecessary progression. Furthermore, there are so many apartments not being utilized in each of the surrounding THA complexes, so I do NOT agree with additional living space. Use what is already available! If a children's facility is needed, house it in a different location where traffic would not become substantial. Once you build a parking deck of this magnitude, increased traffic flow will present safety and protection of life. This should a major concern.

As a former educator, I am really shocked Telluride would even consider this combination in the same location. I am only one citizen, one resident of this precious and gorgeous community. Yet, if Telluride continues with this and other unnecessary projects, you will lose my heart and my support. As a resident who values my gorgeous mountainous view and calm walks to/from town, above all other aspects affected by this project, I will choose to relocate to obtain tranquility, rather than remain in constant unsettling circumstances. If progress must occur, offer options in ways that do not affect so many residents in various negative ways. Place structures out of the way of obstructing the beauty that our sweet nook at this end of Telluride and its view of the canyons provides! Thank you for considering!
